The first accident of the season at the intersection of route 9W and the Malden Turnpike, where in the past years numerous accidents have taken place, occurred Friday about 6:30 p.m. when the cars of Captain Charles R. Tiffany, 84, retired river boat captain of Malden, and Mrs. Gregory Mullstay, 21, of Partition street, Saugerties, collided.

Capt. Tiffany was taken to Kingston Hospital by Layton's ambulance after treatment by Dr. Robert A. McCaig of Saugerties at the scene. His condition was reported good and he apparently suffered only lacerations of the face although X-rays were to be taken today.

MRS. MULLSTAY was also treated by Dr. McCaig for lacerations of the face and leg bruises.

Mrs. Mullstay was proceeding north on Route 9W and Capt. Tiffany was crossing Route 9W en route to the Malden station of the West Shore Railroad with the mail. He is the mail messenger between the Malden post office and the railroad station. He was thrown from his car and one of two mail sacks was also thrown from the car.

Mrs. Mullstay is the former Helen DuBois of West Camp.

BOTH VEHICLES were badly damaged and were towed from the scene.

State police from the Kingston station made an investigation. Traffic was delayed for some time and firemen from the Malden-West Camp fire department assisted in directing traffic.

Made Up Story

About Accident,

Is Given 15 Days

A man whose claim that he was struck by a hit-and-run driver touched off a several-hour-long investigation by the sheriff's office Friday night, has been arrested on a disorderly conduct charge.

Carl Green, 23, who gave his address at 16-12 Swain street, Philadelphia, admitted making up the story about the accident after examination at Kingston Hospital disclosed he was not hurt, the sheriff's office said. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Alton Boyce of the town of Hurley, Green pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge and was sentenced to 15 days in jail.

THE INVESTIGATION began at 7:38 p.m. when it was reported to the sheriff's office that a man was lying on Route 209 near the Harrison Ford residence near Old Hurley. An ambulance was summoned and he was taken to the hospital, complaining of injury to his side.

Investigation of his claim that he was struck by an automobile was begun by Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg, County Investigator Arthur H. Brown, Deputies Benjamin Newkirk and (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)

17 Auto Mishaps

Here Last Month,

Report Discloses

There were 17 automobile accidents in the city of Kingston during April in which 24 persons were injured, Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren reported today.

There were no deaths, although injuries ranged from slight to serious.

CHIEF VAN BUREN also reported a total of 91 arrests by his department during the month, of which 85 were male and six female.

Of these, 25 received fines, 17

City's Franchise

Value $1,496,575

The State Board of Equalization and Assessment today established final 1955 special franchise valuations for New York and 46 other cities. Only in the City of New York does the final valuation differ from the tentative valuation upon which the board conducted a hearing April

The special franchise valuation for Kingston is $1,496,575.

Total special franchise valuation for the City of New York was fixed at $953,493,508, which is $22,416,398 higher than the tentative figure. This increase results from additional property installations reported by the utilities in that city since the date upon which the tentative valuation was computed.

Bao Dai Aides Ordered

Arrested in Indochina

Saigon, South Viet Nam, May

21 (AP)—The government today ordered the arrest and trial on treason charges of two top aides of absentee Chief of State Bao

Dai and several leaders of the outlawed Binh Xuyen Society.

The accused men face the death

if caught and convicted.

The orders, aimed at opponents who attempted to unseat

Nationalist Premier Ngo Dinh

Diem by civil war or coup, were announced by Deputy Defense

Minister Tran Trung Dung. They were issued as a series of political developments apparently to strengthen the premier's hand.

THE TWO ACCUSED Bao Dai

aides are ex-army inspector Gen.

Nguyen Van Vy and Col. Nguyen

Tu Yen, commander of the former ruler's old imperial guard.

Vy, who was named last month

by Bao Dai to replace Diem, staged an abortive coup against government with Yen's aid May 1

after the premier refused to accept the dismissal. The coup failed when the national army backed Diem.

Vy and Yen were last reported to be somewhere in the vicinity of Dalat, a hill resort where the former guard has been stationed.

This, forced voted on May 13 to abandon its old designation and become regular units of the national army.

THE OTHERS accused of treason include:

Gen. Le Van Vien, commander of the rebel Binh Xuyen So-ciet's private army. The societ revolted against Diem but its troops were driven out of the country.

Other championship units include the Connecticut Yankees, of Stratford, Conn., who have been state champions for 17 consecutive years, and placed third in the 1954 national competition.

GOP Supporters Say Ike to Run

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Two of President Eisenhower's most ardent supporters in the Senate said today they are convinced he will be a candidate for a second term but will delay any announcement until next year.

Sen. Duff (R-Pa.), one of the first Eisenhower-for-President boosters in 1952, said in an interview:

"THE PRESIDENT is held in such extraordinary public esteem that it will be almost impossible for him to refuse the nomination, as I see it."

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), agreeing with Duff in a separate interview, said "apparently some top Democratic party officials also are convinced that Ike will run again."

"That is why they have some of their hatchet men busy sniping at the President," Aiken said. "These snipers are the ones that the Democrats would miss the least if they are defeated."

AIKEN DECLINED to identify them but an increasing number of Democrats, both in and out of Congress, have been publicly criticizing the President and his administration recently.

Duff said he saw no political indications in the weekend trips the President and Mrs. Eisenhower are making to their farm home in Pennsylvania. They are there this weekend.

"THAT'S THE most natural thing in the world," Duff said. "After all, as a soldier this is his first real home. He could continue to spend much time there during a second term."

Unless world tensions suddenly end, Duff said he is "confident that the President will respond to the call of duty just as he did the first time he ran."

Phone, Rail Strikes Over

Agreements Are Made In Southern Walkouts

Atlanta, May 21 (AP)—Economic life in the South took a long step forward today with the signing of an agreement in the 68-day telephone strike and a complete settlement of the costly railroad walkout.

The strikes against the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. and Louisville & Nashville Railroad and its subsidiaries affected more than 75,000 workers in many parts of the South.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS were lost in wages alone. Spreading violence caused damage estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Both strikes began the same day, March 14, but the L & N walkout hit harder at southern economy, slowing freight shipments to a crawl in some sections. Passenger service also was curtailed and some industries had to use trucks to reach markets.

Southern Bell service was nearly normal most of the time. Still to be determined was whether an estimated 40,000 CIO Communications Workers of America would approve the contract settling the telephone walkout in nine southeastern states.

The agreement was reached through a compromise. The company had maintained that a no-strike clause, not included in the previous contract, was one of the major obstacles to settlement.

IT LISTED Dulles as a speaker at the opening session, along with Mayor Elmer E. Robinson of San Francisco, Gov. Goodwin J. Knight Jr. of California and Hammarskjold.

President Eisenhower has been invited to address the closing session. The White House said Tuesday he was going on a New England fishing trip that week, but Hammarskjold told reporters he still hoped the President would attend the meeting.

Molotov was present at the UN organizing conference in San Francisco 10 years ago.

The agreement was reached through a compromise. The company had maintained that a no-strike clause, not included in the previous contract, was one of the major obstacles to settlement.

THE UNION FINALLY agreed to the no-strike clause but held out for complete arbitration, better wages and working conditions.

The company statement said for "broader arbitration of disputes arising under the contract, including disputes involving suspension of employees and disciplinary action taken under the no-strike clause."

The contract also included, the company said, wage increases of from $1 to $4 weekly for the 50,000 non-supervisory employees, increasing company costs more than 7 million dollars annually.

AT THE TIME of the strike the contract maximum wage for operators in cities the size of Atlanta was $57 a week and in small cities and towns $43. Craft workers such as cable splicers earned up to $91.50 weekly above the maximum contract.

The company said wage increases of from $1 to $4 weekly for the 50,000 non-supervisory employees, increasing company costs more than 7 million dollars annually.

Small and F. M. Malone, Southern Bell vice president in charge of personnel, signed the agreement at 9:45 p.m. (EST) last night after both sides made concessions during prolonged negotiations.

The Binh Xuyen leaders, with the battered remnants of the

Port Ewen Corps Presents

Title Winners on June 18

The Empire State Grenadiers Drum and Bugle Corps will appear at the Pageant of Champions, sponsored by the Port Ewen Drum Corps, in cooperation with the Hudson Valley Firemen's Association, at Dietz Stadium, Saturday, June 18.

The event will present the nation's leading American Legion drum and bugle corps in music, marching-maneuvering contests, which will be judged by nine All-American Association judges.

Other championship units include the Connecticut Yankees, of Stratford, Conn., who have been state champions for 17 consecutive years, and placed third in the 1954 national competition.

This event will climax the Hudson Valley Firemen's Association convention and will be the first spectacle of its kind ever presented in this area.

East-West Talk Seen For Coast Molotov to Attend UN Celebration

United Nations, May 21 (AP)—New high level East-West talks will take place at the UN's 10th birthday meeting in San Francisco next month. Russia's Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov made that certain last night when he announced he would be there.

Secretary of State Dulles and France's Antoine Pinay already have said they would be at the meeting June 20-26. British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan can't promise yet. It all depends on the outcome of next week's parliamentary elections.

IF ALL FOUR go to the meeting, they have agreed that they will make further plans for a conference of Big Four government leaders tentatively set for July in some still undecided neutral country. They agreed on this in Vienna last week when Molotov gave Russia's acceptance of the west's proposal for such a conference.

The UN announcing the message from Molotov, said 26 foreign ministers had accepted Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's invitation to the anniversary celebration and "perhaps more than 40" would be present.

IT LISTED Dulles as a speaker at the opening session, along with Mayor Elmer E. Robinson of San Francisco, Gov. Goodwin J. Knight Jr. of California and Hammarskjold.

President Eisenhower has been invited to address the closing session. The White House said Tuesday he was going on a New England fishing trip that week, but Hammarskjold told reporters he still hoped the President would attend the meeting.

Sen. Martin (R-Pa.), who has offered President Eisenhower's highway plan as a substitute, conceded in a separate interview he believed there was small chance

Will Make Plans for Paltz Center

An attempt to establish a six-week summer music festival in New Paltz, on the order of the famous Tanglewood, Mass., summer concert series is now underway in the area.

An important organizational meeting of interested persons has been called for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at New Paltz State Teachers College. At this meeting plans will be discussed and committees set up to promote the festival project.

IT IS REPORTED that initial contacts with some of the world's leading music and ballet artists and impresarios have already been established. Frank Lloyd Wright, one of the great architects of the world, has consented to design a permanent "shell" if the festival can be established, it was reported. A temporary shell would be built for this summer.

Sir Thomas Beecham, the famous conductor, John Brownlee of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and others have offered their services for the projected series. No date has been set for the festival which, under present plans, would include five or six concerts, operatic programs and ballets each week.

The meeting tomorrow night is reported to be vital to the realization of festival plans for the 1955 season. Advance ticket sales pledges of $50,000 are said to be required to make the series possible this season.

Expectant Mother Killed By Man She Refused in 1950

West New York, N. J., May 21 (AP)—A beautiful young housewife, expecting a second child in a week, entered a store at dinnertime yesterday to buy fish for supper.

Outside walked a man who had been refused when he asked her to marry him in 1950. He had lived in secret near her home for more than four months, unknown to her.

Minutes later, Mrs. Joan Empson, 26, was lying dead on the floor from four bullets and Alfred T. Carpenter, 35, of Hollis, N.Y., had ended his life nearby with the same pistol, police said.

An emergency Caesar section operation by a doctor with a butcher knife failed to save the woman, who died 15 minutes later.

Carpenter's body was found in

Compromise Seems Doomed

Victory Is Predicted For Democrat Road Bill

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said today he was more confident than ever of victory for the Democratic road construction bill he is sponsoring after a full day of Senate debate on the issue.

Sen. Martin (R-Pa.), who has offered President Eisenhower's highway plan as a substitute, conceded in a separate interview he believed there was small chance of a compromise to save part of the administration program.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS expect to have a sizeable margin of votes when the showdown test comes on the Martin substitute, probably next Wednesday.

They are not conceding the loss of a single Democratic senator on this vote, although they say some may be against the Gore bill on final passage. But by that time, many Republicans will support it since the alternative will be no increased road program, they say.

The Gore bill calls for a five-

Chamber Warns Public Of Promotion Schemes

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce today urged the public to be wary of schemes and promotions promising huge savings or something for nothing.

The chamber pointed out that at this season of the year promoters of various schemes usually reach the area. In the past, the chamber said, many complaints have been received after it was discovered that fictitious addresses were often given, products delivered were not like the "guaranteed" item or inability to find a responsible person to make adjustments or complaints.

The chamber advises that it is usually good business to deal with known parties or concerns, preferably with permanent local headquarters or places of business. "It is always in order," a chamber spokesman said "to ask for references or for names of places where similar items were sold or installation made before signing a contract, agreeing to buy or paying a deposit. A deal which must be closed at once or the opportunity will be lost should be viewed with suspicion."

Solicitations and promotions by strangers take many forms and experience teaches them how to make the scheme sound plausible.

general assistance to the local police in any way possible, particularly attention being given to emergencies which may arise in the event of fire.

NOMINATED for officers of the newly formed association were Al Beatty of New Paltz, president; John Ludlow of Ellenville, vice-president; Arthur K. Rice of West Hurley, secretary; Delancy Costa of Hurley, financial secretary; Frank P. Pratz of Shandaken, treasurer. Beatty is a director of the Fire Police Association of the State of New York. This slate will be voted at the next meeting, which will be the annual meeting to be held June 8, probably at West Hurley.

Directors named are Mr. Wood of Tillson, one year; Thomas Dewess of Modena, two years; Joseph Dyer, Ulster Hose No. 5, three years; Merle Jones of Phoenicia for five years. The director to serve four years was left open.

MEETINGS will be held on the second Wednesday of alternate months beginning in June when the annual meeting will be held. Meetings will begin at 8:30 o'clock. Fifteen members shall constitute a quorum.

The charter will be held open until the October meeting for those who desire to join as charter members

It was brought out at the meeting that with the Soviet Union improving on subversion, infiltration, intrigue and economic and political warfare, great emphasis must be placed on the necessity of a combined flexible defense and effective retaliatory power.

A spokesman said this would include improved weapons, an active reserve program and a defense so balanced that the maximum use of all science and technological advances can be obtained with skilled personnel, and particularly training reserve members.

It was felt that such a program will in due course attract men and women of high ability to participate and better enable the armed services to implement the U. S. defense program.

Medina Sympathetic To Brain Wash Victims

Hutchinson, Kan., May 21 (AP)—Judge Harold R. Medina of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, New York, says he has all the sympathy in the world for those who have gone through Communist brain washing.

He said he underwent the process with protection from all the authorities in this country for nine bitter months in 1949 while presiding at a Communist trial.

Prisoners are without protection and therefore subjected to even worse treatment by the Moscow-trained forces, Medina told the Kansas Bar Association last night.

"Think of what they did to me," he added. "They had me to the point where I was afraid of height. I never did like height but when they chanted 'jump, jump' after former secretary Forrestal jumped, I began to feel fearful."

Double Dose

Manchester, N. H., May 21 (AP)—Six-year-old John Langewin isn't sure whether he's lucky or unlucky—he got two shots of the Salk polio vaccine yesterday. Officials were unable to explain how the youngster managed to receive the double dose. Doctors said the boy should suffer no adverse reaction but they'll keep him under observation for a while. To newsmen who asked what happened, John said "dunno. Got mixed up, huh?"

Local Death RecordRichard Becker

Richard Becker, 45, of Woodstock, died today at Benedictine Hospital after a long illness. He was a lifelong resident of Woodstock and had owned and operated a well-drilling business for several years. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Becker and Mrs. Harold Lapo; two nieces, Mrs. Charles Goodrich and Mrs. Harry Park and a nephew, Frank Becker, Jr., all of Woodstock. Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Lasher Funeral Home in Woodstock with the Rev. Olney E. Cook officiating. Burial will be in Woodstock Cemetery.

Harold T. Brink

The funeral of Harold T. Brink was held today at 9 a.m. from the Jenson & Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, and at 9:30 o'clock from St. Joseph's Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. James Keating. A large number of relatives and friends were present at the church to pay a final tribute of respect to his memory. The children's choir sang "Pie Jesu" at the offertory and "In Paradisum" as the procession left the church. The congregation stood during the playing of our National Anthem in honor of his services to this country during World War 1. Among the many friends who called during the bereavement was a large delegation of Joyce Schirck Post, No. 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Post who held ritualistic services for their departed comrade. St. Joseph's Holy Name Society also called and Father Keating led in the recitation of the Holy Rosary for the repose of his soul. Monsignor Connolly also recited prayers for the dead. Beautiful floral tributes and many Mass cards were placed near the casket testifying to the esteem in which he was held. Bearers, members of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post, No. 1386, were Joseph Roche, Richard Davis, George Long, Frank Rendak, Vincent Eckert and Harold Boice. Burial took place in Rosendale Plains Cemetery following the religious services.

Equalization Rate Hearings Slated

Albany, May 21 (AP)—A hearing will be held in Albany June 10 on tentative equalization rates set for the cities of New York, Jamestown, Glens Falls and North Tonawanda.

The State Board of Equalization and Assessment announced the tentative rates yesterday.

The only changes announced were for four of the five boroughs of New York city.

THE RATE for Jamestown remains at 50, Glens Falls at 53, North Tonawanda at 47 and the borough of Manhattan at 99. For Brooklyn, it goes from 83 to 86, for the Bronx from 93 to 96, for Queens from 69 to 75 and for Richmond from 59 to 62.

Equalization rates represent a ratio between the state's appraisal of real estate in a given area and the value put upon it by local assessors. They are used in figuring tax and debt limits, state aid to public schools and the relative share of county taxes to be paid by communities.

A high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul at 9 a.m. Monday, May 23, at Our Lady of Victory Chapel, Benedictine Hospital. Interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call from Saturday on.

Livestock Prices

The following prices per cwt. were reported at Empire Livestock Marketing Cooperative's Bullville stockyards, May 18 auction:

COMPANY OFFICIALS claimed this week that there were 23,000 workers and 9,000 supervisors on the job. The company normally employs 80,000 persons, about 50,000 of them eligible for union membership.

The Southern Governors Conference appointed three governors to try to work out an agreement with the company and the union but this failed.

Says Protestants Must Band Together

Atlantic City, N. J., May 21 (AP)—American Protestants must band together to avoid going "down to hell in a welter of crime, drunkenness, militarism, and divorce," a St. Louis Baptist leader says.

The Rev. Edwin T. Dahlberg, citing a splintered up, divided system of 250 rival and competing denominational churches, told the American Baptist convention yesterday that God wants all denominations to walk together in faith and fellowship and love, whether they agree or disagree.

The convention continued to day.

The 6,000 delegates representing 1,600 American Baptists also heard the Rev. Donald V. Wells of New York recommend a $1.5 million dollar campaign to pep up the Baptist program on the college campus.

Name Kingston, Pa.

Scranton, Pa., May 21 (AP)—The Wyoming Conference of the Methodist Church has selected Kingston, Pa., as the site for its 105th annual convention next year. Bishop Marvin A. Franklin, of Jackson, Miss., told delegates last night that "downtown churches are dying today and nothing is being done to find others to take their places." He added that there is no finer mission field than the United States.

Armed Forces: Past, Present, Future

Pictograph illustrates the strength of U.S. armed forces from 1939 through 1956. Figures for 1956 are estimated. Peak was reached at the end of World War II, 1945. Start of the Korean War in June, 1950, brought an upsurge in manpower, which has leveled off gradually since mid-1952. Expected 1956 strength shows the effect of the Administration's "New Look" in the military, which calls for fewer men and more air strength.

Bar chart shows the number of combat ships from June 1950 to June 1956. Pie chart shows the breakdown of total military spending for 1956.

Military spending is on the downgrade. Chart above shows that the only rise in military spending is found in the Air Force, which is explained by the increased emphasis in air power with the advent of the atomic age. Insert is a breakdown of estimated military spending for 1956.

Iedina Sympathetic to Brain Wash Victims

Hutchinson, Kan., May 21 (AP)—Judge Harold R. Medina of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, New York, says he has all the sympathy in the world for those who have gone through Communist brain washing.

He said he underwent the process with protection from all the authorities in this country for nine bitter months in 1949 while residing at a Communist trial. Prisoners are without protection and therefore subjected to even worse treatment by the Moscow-trained forces, Medina told the Kansas Bar Association last night.

"Think of what they did to me," he added. "They had me to the point where I was afraid of height. I never did like height but when they chanted 'jump, jump' after former secretary Forrestal jumped, I began to feel fearful."

Double Dose

Manchester, N. H., May 21 (AP)—Six-year-old John Langewin isn't sure whether he's lucky or unlucky—he got two shots of the Salk polio vaccine yesterday. Officials were unable to explain how the youngster managed to receive the double dose. Doctors said the boy should suffer no adverse reaction but they'll keep him under observation for a while. To newsmen who asked what happened, John said: "dunno. Got mixed up, huh?"

FATE OF HOOVER REFORMS

Since the first of this year, the Hoover Commission has issued eight reports containing 200 recommendations for improving the efficiency of the federal government. Though these reports were compiled at considerable expense, not one has been acted upon either by Congress or the White House.

Former President Herbert Hoover, coordinator of the commission bearing his name, maintains that the Federal budget could be balanced "overnight" if the recommendations were put into effect. However, he is apprehensive that no action will be taken on them this year, and that in 1956 they will be overlooked by an election-minded Congress.

It should be noted, however, that 40 per cent of these recommendations could be adopted by White House executive order only, while the other 60 per cent require Congressional approval.

Certainly there are many differences of opinion over the value of the various Hoover Commission recommendations, but ignoring them accomplishes nothing. The administration might well invite debate on the proposals by submitting them in the form of legislation to Congress.

It is easy to talk piously about governmental efficiency, but action in this direction comes hard. Apparently nothing will be done until the public demands action in clear, unmistakable terms. Doesn't the public care about saving by thrift and sense in governmental housekeeping?

DRIVING STATISTICS

The American Automobile Association is tired of having the nation's motorists described as morons or madmen. It has published a report showing that driving is safer and motorists more skilful today than 20 years ago.

The report shows that while population, vehicular registration, number of operators and miles driven annually have climbed, the death rate has declined.

In 1935, according to the report, when there were 26,000,000 motor vehicles on the roads of the United States, 36,369 persons died in motor accidents. The death rate for 1935 was 15.9 per million motor vehicle miles traveled. By 1953, the number of motor vehicles on the road has soared to 56,000,000, while 38,300 persons were killed in highway accidents. The death rate for 1953 was down to 6.2 per million vehicle miles.

For anyone interested in statistics, these figures are comforting. They do show that road safety has been improved over a 20-year period. The fact remains, however, that in 1953 many thousands of people were killed needlessly in motor vehicle accidents. Driving is still hazardous.

Not many people would contend that the American motorist is either a madman or a moron. But many motorists are careless, and when the foot hits the accelerator they lose all sense of restraint. Before the road menace can end, the American motorist must become more responsible. Until he learns restraint and responsibility, he will remain a menace.

Probably the best self treatment is to give up late hours, cut down on sweets and count the calories. This is why so many settle for second best.

BRITAIN MUST CHOOSE

In a few days British voters will go to the polls to choose their government for the next five years. Recent reports suggest that the outcome may be closer than was thought likely at the start.

The practiced observers believe the ruling Conservatives will win. But they feel that the margin of triumph over the rival Labor party will be fairly slim, about like the winning edge in October, 1951.

When it first became apparent that a spring election might be called, forecasters spoke freely of an easy Conservative victory. Their reasons were the Conservatives' success in lifting Britain to record levels of

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

CIVIL LIBERTIES

Mrs. Manuel Miller, of Bethel, Vermont, does not like me. Her antagonism is due to the fact that I am a Jew and she has issued a vicious statement to that effect. This woman has been seized, has been declared insane by Judge Ernest Gibson, whom she attacked and who therefore should not have sat in her case. She has been taken from her home in Bethel, Vermont, to an insane asylum in Washington, D. C. She has been treated with a brutality to which Americans are not accustomed.

The fact that Mrs. Miller attacked me or Judge Gibson does not warrant brutal treatment nor does it explain why she should have been taken from Bethel, Vermont, to St. Elizabeth's hospital in Washington, D. C. If she is ill, surely there are institutions closer to her home, to her husband and mother, than Washington.

It seems to me that this is precisely the case that the American Civil Liberties Union ought to jump into to prove beyond doubt that it is fighting for human rights and not only for the rights of those who uphold certain causes. Mrs. Miller started as an anti-Communist. In recent years, she has become an anti-Semite. She has issued mimeographed circulars containing violent abuse of persons and unfounded statements which, at any rate, she had no facilities to check. She finally advised young men not to register for the draft, which is an illegal act.

But for all this, she should not have been seized; her home should not have been damaged; due process should have been pursued to the very end. There could not have been due process if Judge Gibson determined on her mentality after she had attacked him anymore than it would be fair or just for me to decide her sanity after she had expressed hatred for me.

So the American Civil Liberties Union has this opportunity to see to it that this woman, who regards the A.C.L.U. as an arm of American Communism, gets a square deal under our laws. If Mrs. Miller or her family does not apply to the A.C.L.U. for aid, I do and I hope that my request will be granted. If she is insane, as Judge Gibson said she is, then she should be sent to a hospital nearer home as would be fair. The United States does not want a Siberia even for those whose ideas are unpopular or unpleasant.

And there is another matter that the A.C.L.U. might consider with more relation to its stated purpose than its own mimeograph on the subject indicates; that is the broad question of the Right to Work legislation passed by 17 states. On this subject, the American Civil Liberties Union said:

"The history of interference with the civil liberties of labor organizations, in the areas where most of the statutes have been enacted, gives ground for concern that they carry the potential danger of being used—or misused—directly to obstruct the exercise of basic organizing rights like the hiring of halls for union meetings."

Here is a conflict between two rights: the right of the individual to liberty and the pursuit of happiness and the right of labor unions to organize workers. If an American chooses to work without joining a union, by what specific clause in the Constitution is he to be deprived of his choice? Seventeen states have passed legislation protecting him in that freedom of choice, whether his judgment is sound or not.

The A.C.L.U. says:

"As a non-partisan organization devoted only to maintaining civil liberties, we take no position on the merits of the arguments that labor unions make in their organizing campaigns. Our interest is in keeping open the channels of communication through which both unions and employers may present their opinions. . . ."

That statement seems to me to beg the question which has nothing to do with employer-employee conversations but with the right of an individual American to determine all on his own whether, in order to work for a living, he must pay dues to a labor union. As a practical matter, he probably will have to join a union and pay dues because so many employers sign closed shop or union shop contracts.

But the American Civil Liberties Union cannot recognize practicality or expediency as an excuse for a violation of a citizen's rights.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

KIDNEY STONES

While many patients may have stones in their kidneys and not know it because they experience no pain or symptoms of any kind, one of the most excruciating pains known to humans occurs when a kidney stone attempts to pass out of the kidney into the ureter, which is the tube that carries the urine out of the kidney and down to the bladder. This pain is known as renal colic and is often accompanied by shock and vomiting. Sudden relief comes from the stone slipping into the bladder or else back into the kidney. Renal colic is treated by placing the patient in a hot bath or hip-bath and, if necessary, injecting morphine. Sometimes when the pain is unbearable, inhaling chloroform may be needed.

It has been known for some time that whenever possible, surgical removal of the renal calculi (kidney stones) is the best treatment. It removes a foreign body; this in itself is obviously wise, for the foreign body continuously grows larger. It has already grown to a size that makes it visible on X-ray. A kidney stone can do damage by pressure and by wearing away the tissues around it. It invades infection and when infection is present, it prevents the infection from being cured. Last, but by no means least, kidney stones can block the flow of urine from the kidneys.

Despite these excellent reasons for the removal of kidney stones, there are some cases in which management by the physician rather than by the surgeon not only desirable but wise and sensible, such as when the risk of surgery is too little for the risk involved. Sometimes the stones are causing no symptoms and there is no infection present. Sometimes the stones form in such inaccessible places in the kidney that the whole kidney would have to be removed to get rid of them.

Treatment of kidney stones without operation depends to a great extent on just what type of stone they are, and this the physician can usually tell by careful examination of urine specimens. Whichever type they are, the most important part of the treatment is to maintain a high urinary output (a large amount of urine). We must not confuse this with a large fluid intake (drinking a large amount of fluid) because sometimes a person may drink much fluid but his urine output will be low. A large urinary output, provided there is no stoppage, tends to wash out the small particles that go to make up kidney stones, before they become large enough to be called stones.

prosperity, and the Labor party's deep internal split.

Those things have not changed materially. The latest opinion polls, however, have indicated a very close popular division between the two parties. It will be recalled that in 1951, though the Conservatives gained a House of Commons majority, their total vote was less than Labor's.

Saugerties, May 20—American Legion Poppy Day sponsored by the Lamoure-Hackett Post 72, American Legion in Saugerties which was originally scheduled for Saturday, has been postponed until next Saturday, May 28.

Officials of the Auxiliary conducting the canvass said the postponement was agreed upon in order to avoid a conflict with the special Cerebral Palsy canvass.

Meeting Set Monday For Centralization

Saugerties, May 20—A general meeting of all Centralization Study Committee members embracing all rural advisory committee members (two of whom were elected in each school district at the annual district school meeting held May 3), and all men and women from both the village and township interested in the latest data on the statue of the centralization program will be held Monday, May 23, at 8 p. m. in Saugerties High School.

Mrs. Leroy Donaldson, chairman of the study committee, will preside.

The agenda of the meeting will include information on the posting of the commissioners' notices laying out the Saugerties Centralized District; the legal petition and the filing of same by May 25; the Centralization voting procedure and the election of the new Central Board of Education.

Reginald Bennett, the new district superintendent of the town of Saugerties, will be present and will offer the knowledge and experiences he has had with centralization.

The committee urges that every town of Saugerties resident feel it his responsibility to be present at this important session.

It is expected that the second centralization petition which is being circulated by the committee will be ready to be filed by May 25 with the State Commissioner of Education. The petition requests that a date be set for the vote on Centralization.

Saugerties Salute Endorsed by Chamber

Saugerties, May 20—The Saugerties Chamber of Commerce at a regular meeting Wednesday night in the Exempt Firemen's rooms in the Municipal Building went on record as endorsing the programming of a TV show entitled Saugerties Salute.

In accordance with provisions of the by-laws the Executive Board of the Chamber designated Ben Greenspan, current treasurer to fill the office of vice president left vacant by the death of Mr. John Johnston.

Mr. Johnston noticed a commotion. It was the mouse—Democratic indubitably, and a holdover from previous administration meetings in this place.

Mr. Johnston stopped talking.

Miss Bertha Adkins, blonde and blue-eyed assistant to National Republican Chairman Leonard A. Hall in charge of women's activities, saved the day.

She did not scream.

She got a broom.

She killed the mouse.

Mr. Johnston finished his speech.

WHEN SECRETARY of Commerce Sinclair Weeks came back from a visit to an international trade conference in Europe, he found that his suite in the Commerce building had been redone for the first time since Jesse Jones of Houston was secretary during World War 2.

Finally this Democratic governor cornered a high Agriculture Department official after one of the meetings.

"Look here," he exclaimed in a voice everybody could hear, "this drought is bipartisan. It's killing Republican cows as well as Democratic cows."

They're still waiting for his reaction to the hanging of the pictures of the first three commerce secretaries in his private office because two of them are Democrats. They are William C. Redfield and Joshua W. Alexander. They know he won't mind the third, Herbert Hoover.

Everybody gawked when the defense secretary's wife showed up at a party wearing a bonnet covered with orange blossoms and three huge imitation oranges. The lady just wanted all to know she recently returned from a trip to Florida.

DEMOCRATIC MICE longer strike consternation in the hearts of either Republican elephants or Republican women, for that matter.

This was demonstrated here during the National Republican Women's conference. Victor A. Johnston, director of the Senate Republican campaign committee, was making a call to the ladies on how to elect a Republican Senate in 1956.

The American Automobile Association is tired of having the nation's motorists described as morons or madmen. It has published a report showing that driving is safer and motorists more skillful today than 20 years ago.

The report shows that while population, vehicular registration, number of operators and miles driven annually have climbed, the death rate has declined.

In 1935, according to the report, when there were 26,000,000 motor vehicles on the roads of the United States, 36,369 persons died in motor accidents. The death rate for 1935 was 15.9 per million motor vehicle miles traveled. By 1953, the number of motor vehicles on the road has soared to 56,000,000, while 38,300 persons were killed in highway accidents. The death rate for 1953 was down to 6.2 per million vehicle miles.

For anyone interested in statistics, these figures are comforting. They do show that road safety has been improved over a 20-year period. The fact remains, however, that in 1953 many thousands of people were killed needlessly in motor vehicle accidents. Driving is still hazardous.

Not many people would contend that the American motorist is either a madman or a moron. But many motorists are careless, and when the foot hits the accelerator they lose all sense of restraint. Before the road menace can end, the American motorist must become more responsible. Until he learns restraint and responsibility, he will remain a menace.

Probably the best self treatment is to give up late hours, cut down on sweets and count the calories. This is why so many settle for second best.

BRITAIN MUST CHOOSE

In a few days British voters will go to the polls to choose their government for the next five years. Recent reports suggest that the outcome may be closer than was thought likely at the start.

The practiced observers believe the ruling Conservatives will win. But they feel that the margin of triumph over the rival Labor party will be fairly slim, about like the winning edge in October, 1951.

When it first became apparent that a spring election might be called, forecasters spoke freely of an easy Conservative victory. Their reasons were the Conservatives' success in lifting Britain to record levels of

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

CIVIL LIBERTIES

Mrs. Manuel Miller, of Bethel, Vermont, does not like me. Her antagonism is due to the fact that I am a Jew and she has issued a vicious statement to that effect. This woman has been seized, has been declared insane by Judge Ernest Gibson, whom she attacked and who therefore should not have sat in her case. She has been taken from her home in Bethel, Vermont, to an insane asylum in Washington, D. C. She has been treated with a brutality to which Americans are not accustomed.

The fact that Mrs. Miller attacked me or Judge Gibson does not warrant brutal treatment nor does it explain why she should have been taken from Bethel, Vermont, to St. Elizabeth's hospital in Washington, D. C. If she is ill, surely there are institutions closer to her home, to her husband and mother, than Washington.

It seems to me that this is precisely the case that the American Civil Liberties Union ought to jump into to prove beyond doubt that it is fighting for human rights and not only for the rights of those who uphold certain causes. Mrs. Miller started as an anti-Communist. In recent years, she has become an anti-Semite. She has issued mimeographed circulars containing violent abuse of persons and unfounded statements which, at any rate, she had no facilities to check. She finally advised young men not to register for the draft, which is an illegal act.

But for all this, she should not have been seized; her home should not have been damaged; due process would have been pursued to the very end. There could not have been due process if Judge Gibson determined on her mentality after she had attacked him anymore than it would be fair or just for me to decide her sanity after she had expressed hatred for me.

So the American Civil Liberties Union has this opportunity to see to it that this woman, who regards the A.C.L.U. as an arm of American Communism, gets a square deal under our laws. If Mrs. Miller or her family does not apply to the A.C.L.U. for aid, I do and I hope that my request will be granted. If she is insane, as Judge Gibson said she is, then she should be sent to a hospital nearer home as would be fair. The United States does not want a Siberia even for those whose ideas are unpopular or unpleasant.

And there is another matter that the A.C.L.U. might consider with more relation to its stated purpose than its own mimeograph on the subject indicates; that is the broad question of the Right to Work legislation passed by 17 states. On this subject, the American Civil Liberties Union said:

"The history of interference with the civil liberties of labor organizations, in the areas where most of the statutes have been enacted, gives ground for concern that they carry the potential danger of being used—or misused—directly to obstruct the exercise of basic organizing rights like the hiring of halls for union meetings."

Here is a conflict between two rights: the right of the individual to liberty and the pursuit of happiness and the right of labor unions to organize workers. If an American chooses to work without joining a union, by what specific clause in the Constitution is he to be deprived of his choice? Seventeen states have passed legislation protecting him in that freedom of choice, whether his judgment is sound or not.

The A.C.L.U. says:

"As a non-partisan organization devoted only to maintaining civil liberties, we take no position on the merits of the arguments that labor unions make in their organizing campaigns. Our interest is in keeping open the channels of communication through which both unions and employers may present their opinions. . . ."

That statement seems to me to beg the question which has nothing to do with employer-employee conversations but with the right of an individual American to determine all on his own whether, in order to work for a living, he must pay dues to a labor union. As a practical matter, he probably will have to join a union and pay dues because so many employers sign closed shop or union shop contracts.

But the American Civil Liberties Union cannot recognize practicality or expediency as an excuse for a violation of a citizen's rights.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

KIDNEY STONES

While many patients may have stones in their kidneys and not know it because they experience no pain or symptoms of any kind, one of the most excruciating pains known to humans occurs when a kidney stone attempts to pass out of the kidney into the ureter, which is the tube that carries the urine out of the kidney and down to the bladder. This pain is known as renal colic and is often accompanied by shock and vomiting. Sudden relief comes from the stone slipping into the bladder or else back into the kidney. Renal colic is treated by placing the patient in a hot bath or hib-bath and, if necessary, injecting morphine. Sometimes when the pain is unbearable, inhaling chloroform may be needed.

It has been known for some time that whenever possible, surgical removal of the renal calculi (kidney stones) is the best treatment. It removes a foreign body; this in itself is obviously wise, for the foreign body continuously grows larger. It has already grown to a size that makes it visible on X-ray. A kidney stone can do damage by pressure and by wearing away the tissues around it. It invites infection and when infection is present, it prevents the infection from being cured. Last, but by no means least, kidney stones can block the flow of urine from the kidneys.

Despite these excellent reasons for the removal of kidney stones, there are some cases in which management by the physician rather than by the surgeon is not only desirable but wise and sensible, such as when the risk of surgery is too great or the possible benefit from surgery is too little for the risk involved. Sometimes the stones are causing no symptoms and there is no infection present. Sometimes the stones form in such inaccessible places in the kidney that the whole kidney would have to be removed to get rid of them.

Treatment of kidney stones without operation depends to a great extent on just what type of stone they are, and this the physician can usually tell by careful examination of urine specimens. Whichever type they are, the most important part of the treatment is to maintain a high urinary output (a large amount of urine). We must not confuse this with a large fluid intake (drinking a large amount of fluid) because sometimes a person may drink much fluid but his urine output will be low. A large urinary output, provided there is no stoppage, tends to wash out the small particles that go to make up kidney stones, before they become large enough to be called stones.

prosperity, and the Labor party's deep internal split.

Those things have not changed materially. The latest opinion polls, however, have indicated a very close popular division between the two parties. It will be recalled that in 1951, though the Conservatives gained a House of Commons majority, their total vote was less than Labor's

Washington, (NEA)—Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn may be the inspiration to reverse the Davy Crockett long-hair fad among kids.

A couple of days ago nine-year-old Scott Carpenter was asked by his teacher to make a talk on some political subject and pretend to be a prominent legislator on Capitol Hill.

Scott, selecting Rayburn as the man he would be, prepared an inspirational talk on the speaker's state of Texas. Then on his way to school Scott stopped in at the barbershop and had his hair shaved off to simulate Rayburn's bald pate.

Needless to say, his mother, Elizabeth Carpenter, president of the Women's National Press Club, had not sanctioned this bit of realism, even though she represents for a group of Texas newspapers.

SEN. NORRIS COTTON (R-N.H.) is going on a diet. While attending a ceremony recently at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, he noticed a member of the military guard standing at attention.

"His slim, trim body made me conscious of my own billowing figure," admitted the 230-pound senator. "From now on no more bread, potatoes or sweets for me."

REPUBLICANS ARE eagerly looking forward to Aug. 20, for at last they're going to have a big wedding in the official family. That's the date stunning Pat Priest will be married to White House Aide Lt. Cmdr. Pierce Andrew Jensen, Jr., USN. She's the daughter of Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, U. S. treasurer.

It promises to be a matrimonial whirling-ding. Government official and diplomatic society will be invited. In fact, so many people are expected for the reception that it probably will be held in the new ballroom of the Sheraton-Park Hotel, which its owners claim is the world's largest.

Luckily, 18-year-old Pat will have plenty of help. Her maid of honor, Mary-Stuart Montague Price, who is one of the town's most popular social consultants, is handling the whole affair.

DURING THE governors' conference which took place here recently, one chief executive from a western state was particularly sore at the way the drought situation was being handled in his state.

Finally this Democratic governor cornered a high Agriculture Department official after one of the meetings.

"Look here," he exclaimed in a voice everybody could hear, "this drought is bipartisan. It's killing Republican cows as well as Democratic cows."

They're still waiting for his reaction to the hanging of the pictures of the first three commerce secretaries in his private office because two of them are Democrats. They are William C. Redfield and Joshua W. Alexander. They know he won't mind the third, Herbert Hoover.

When the decorators found moths in the draperies, someone told them the last of the hold-over Democrats.

Also, in the process, the mouse that had been getting into the secretary's cookie jar was discovered and exterminated.

A meeting of representatives of the Methodist Churches of the Newburgh sub-district No. 5, including New Paltz-Lloyd-Plattburgh, Highland-Milton, Marlboro-Middle Hope, Gardner, Walden, Rossville-Plattekill, Clintondale-Medona, will be held Sunday, May 22, at 4 p. m. at Medona, for the purpose of considering plans for an inter-church softball league, in cooperation with youth work and interest.

The Modena Senior Youth Fellowship will have the final evening of its cooking contest between boys and girls, at the Hassbrook Memorial Hall Sunday, May 22. The girls will be the acting cooks this time, with the boys as guests. The Rev. and Mrs. John E. Swords have been elected judges. Mrs. Swords predicts that the experience (which was planned and initiated by the young people) will create better understanding among the young folks, of the chores which mothers are so often taken for granted.

Miss Alicia Garcia, George Jackson Are Wed at Kerhonkson

The wedding of Miss Alicia Garcia to George Jackson took place Saturday, May 14, at 3 p. m., in the Kerhonkson Methodist Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Jack Savage of St. John's, Newburgh.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Garcia of Kerhonkson. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson of Ashokan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported French lace with nylon tulle netting and sweetheart neckline, a veil and crown with the veil pure silk. She carried a cascade of white swansons and white rose centers and streamers.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Anamarie Tetta, of Samsonville, a sister of the bride, wore a gown of crystalline taffeta with peacock blue and carried a cascade of rapture roses with streamers.

The junior bridesmaid, Miss Romana Garcia, a sister of the bride, wore a dusty rose organza gown, and carried an old fashioned bouquet of rapture roses and white carnations. The best man was Harold Carlson of Shokan.

Mrs. Theodore Woolsey, accompanied by Mrs. Milford Minson, sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception was held for 75 guests at Peg Leg Bates Country Club.

For a wedding trip to Pennsylvania, Washington, D. C., and the New England states, the bride wore a white hat and gloves, navy purse and shoes, a blue gray suit and a white rose corsage. They plan to reside in Newburgh after Mr. Garcia is discharged from the service this fall.

The bride is a graduate of Ellenville High School, and attend the Orange County Community College. She is a junior at St. Luke's School of Nursing, Newburgh.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School and attended Union College, Schenectady. He was employed in the engineering laboratory at IBM, Poughkeepsie before entering the service. He is now stationed in San Francisco, Calif.

HEALTH FOR ALL

AGE IS NO BARRIER

A little girl is blind because her Grandfather said, "Old folks like me don't catch tuberculosis."

When he was young, he knew people who had TB. They were young people and he saw many of them die. When he was bringing up his own children, he kept a close watch on their health during their teens, because of his fear of tuberculosis. As for himself, he was sure he had passed the "dangerous age" when he reached his forties.

What he saw was real enough. Tuberculosis can attack people of any age, any sex, any race, any income level. Today deaths from the disease are most numerous in men over 40. But death is not the measure of tuberculosis.

If methods of treating tuberculosis continue to improve as they have in the last few decades, there may soon come a time when even fewer people will die of it. But the disease will continue to be a heavy burden on our society unless the spread of infection can be checked.

Grandfather did not for one moment think that he could be spreading tuberculosis germs. He did not feel particularly ill. What symptoms he had were "just old age." But suddenly, without warning, his little granddaughter was struck down by the dreaded tuberculosis meningitis. Her life was saved, but she may never see again.

To find the source of the infection, all of the family were X-rayed and the grandfather's disease was discovered. Today he is being cured in a tuberculosis hospital. But his illness could have been discovered and treated early, if he had visited his doctor for regular physical examinations and chest X-rays. Spread of infection to the child might have been prevented. He knows now that age is no barrier to tuberculosis.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Even an Expert Can Make Wrong Play

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

A very famous expert played today's hand and managed to misguess enough in diamonds and hearts to lose the game contract. It looked unlucky, but the expert knew that he had only himself to blame.

West opened the king of clubs and shifted to a trump. Declarer won the second trick in dummy with the jack of spades and led a diamond at once. East played low, and South finessed the jack.

This unlucky guess lost to the queen, and a diamond return went to East's ace. East now got out with a third diamond, and South had to make the rest of the tricks. South huffed and puffed and ran several rounds of spades in the attempt to get a count. At the end he took the king of hearts and finessed the jack. This lost to West's queen, and South was down one.

Where did South go wrong? After all, anybody—even a great expert—can misguess a king combination. And anybody can lose a finesse to a doubleton queen.

The trouble was with the timing. At the second trick, South should win the trump in his own hand and ruff his remaining low club in the dummy. Then he should begin on the hearts by taking the king and finessing the jack.

This finesse loses to the dou-

Fennelly Wins Elks' Scholarship For Second Year

A scholarship of $500, his second from the organization, has been awarded by the New York Elks Association to Brian Fennelly of 2 Schryver Court, a student at Union College.

Last year, Mr. Fennelly, a graduate of St. Joseph's Parochial School and Kingston High School, received a $400 scholarship from the Elks.

Announcement that he had been awarded the second was made today by Robert M. Smith, past exalted ruler of Kingston Lodge 550, BPO Elks, who is chairman of the scholarship committee, other members of which are John Schwalbach, past exalted ruler; Thomas Bohan and Harold Baltz.

The recent award was made during the Elks state convention at Rochester.

The scholarship winner is a son of Mrs. Florence A. Fennelly and the late Leo Fennelly, who served Kingston as city clerk during the administration of William F. Edelman, previous to which he was employed in the newspaper field as a writer.

What he saw was real enough. Tuberculosis can attack people of any age, any sex, any race, any income level. Today deaths from the disease are most numerous in men over 40. But death is not the measure of tuberculosis.

If methods of treating tuberculosis continue to improve as they have in the last few decades, there may soon come a time when even fewer people will die of it. But the disease will continue to be a heavy burden on our society unless the spread of infection can be checked.

Grandfather did not for one moment think that he could be spreading tuberculosis germs. He did not feel particularly ill. What symptoms he had were "just old age." But suddenly, without warning, his little granddaughter was struck down by the dreaded tuberculosis meningitis. Her life was saved, but she may never see again.

To find the source of the infection, all of the family were X-rayed and the grandfather's

Kings Chorus to Sing At Clinton Avenue

A concert by the Kings Chorus will be presented by the Women's Society of Christian Service in Epworth Hall of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, Wednesday, May 25, at 8:30 p. m.

The Kings Chorus is composed of singers from Kingston and surrounding communities. Programs presented by the chorus represent some of the best examples of all types of choral music. The repertory includes sacred and secular music, art songs, folk songs, madrigals, spirituals and popular music.

The group was organized in January 1952, and since its first concert for the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Association in Kingston High School in June of that year.

It has gained wide recognition through its many concerts in this area.

The director of the chorus, Donald Romme, is minister of music, at the Trinity Lutheran Church, and teacher of vocal music in the Walden public schools.

disease was discovered. Today he is being cured in a tuberculosis hospital. But his illness could have been discovered and treated early, if he had visited his doctor for regular physical examinations and chest X-rays. Spread of infection to the child might have been prevented. He knows now that age is no barrier to tuberculosis.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by: Ulster County TB & Health Association, 74 John street.

JACOBY ON BRIDGEEven an Expert Can Make Wrong Play

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

A very famous expert played today's hand and managed to misguess enough in diamonds and hearts to lose the game contract. It looked unlucky, but the expert knew that he had only himself to blame.

West opened the king of clubs and shifted to a trump, Declarer won the second trick in dummy with the jack of spades and led a diamond at once. East played low, and South finessed the jack.

This unlucky guess lost to the queen, and a diamond return went to East's ace. East now got out with a third diamond, and South had to make the rest of the tricks. South buffed and puffed and ran several rounds of spades in the attempt to get a count. At the end he took the king of hearts and finessed the jack. This lost to West's queen, and South was down one.

Where did South go wrong? After all, anybody—even a great expert—can misguess a king-jack combination. And anybody can lose a finesse to doubleton queen.

The trouble was with the timing. At the second trick, South should win the trump in his own hand and ruff his remaining low club in the dummy. Then he should begin on the hearts by taking the king and finessing the jack.

This finesse loses to the doubleton queen, to be sure. The difference is that West is now caught in an end-play. If he returns a club, South can trump dummy. If West, instead returns a diamond, South has no problem.

The point is that South must try to make a good guess in each of the red suits, but he should try the heart guess first because of the slight extra chance that an end-play will develop. The chance is slight, but it costs nothing to try for it.

Netting Keeps Leaves
From Clogging Gutters

To keep leaves from clogging roof gutters, galvanized wire netting of quarter-inch or half-inch size fastened along the tops of the eavestroughs can be very effective.

Some building supply houses carry fabricated screens of this type with metal edging designed to hold the screens in place. But satisfactory screens can be readily cut from stock mesh, slipped under gutter hangers and bent around edges to be secure. Harrison Todd, building materials dealer of Sacramento, Calif., tells of having installed screens of this type eight years ago with the result that the roof gutters have not needed cleaning since.

Filling Open Grains

You can fill the open grain of wood when a transparent finish coat is to be applied with a paste wood filler. This is a mixture of varnish and silica, a pigment which does not obscure the wood, say experts.

Salt Fatal to Grass

Rock salt and sand mixed half and half makes a good snow and ice melter but should be kept away from grass and other vegetation.

SHATTERPROOF LIGHT!

Alsynite
ALSYNITE is a sensational new form of structural glass made by combining glass fiber with resin. It is shatterproof, permanent and feather-light . . . can be sawed, nailed or drilled . . . as easy to use as plywood. Requires no conventional window framing. Like patterned glass, Alsynite lets light through but you can't see through it. Available in seven jewel-like colors. Corrugated panels come in eight sizes. Weighs only 8 oz. per sq. ft. In metal buildings, corrugated panels of Alsynite are simply substituted for metal sheathing wherever a "skylight" is desired. Alsynite "nests" with all sizes of corrugated building materials and fastens in the same manner. No special tools or framing.

Flat Alsynite substitutes for glass in standard windows. Alsynite is suitable for almost any patterned glass use, plus many new and novel uses never possible before.

Simple, Attractive Design—
All Rooms on One Floor

Way the Kitchen
Faces Dictates
Color Scheme

The way your kitchen faces can have a lot to do with your selection of colors. With a northern exposure, where little or no direct sunlight enters the room, a kitchen is most cheerful in bright, warm colors. Kitchens facing south can carry cooler shades.

Color experts explain this on the basis of light entering from the north being predominantly blue, while southern light has a yellowish tinge.

One suggestion for obtaining an illusion of sunlight in a kitchen with northern exposure is to use yellow, orange, copper, russet brown with white and blue accents.

Walls and ceiling of this kitchen are painted a clear, sunshiny yellow. The floor is covered with pumpkin-colored linoleum, spatter-dashed in russet brown and white. A border around the floor is solid brown with baseboard and kitchen chairs enameled to match this.

Door and window frames of 47 by 69 feet, this house has a cubage of 30,800 feet. Cubage of the garage is 7300 feet. You should have a lot at least 70 feet frontage.

Patching Masonry

A small crack in a masonry wall can be patched with roofing compound. It will not look pretty but it will keep the water out.

Flues for Gas Burners

Ordinary masonry flues can be converted for use with gas-burning furnaces by installing a stainless steel liner inside the flue.

Both a dining room and living

Attleboro Is Spacious, Modern

Bedrooms Three
Closets Nine
Cubage, Main House 30,800 ft.
Garage 7,300 ft.
Dimensions 47 x 69'

The combination of a thoroughly modern, very attractive exterior and a carefully planned, spacious interior will make "The Attleboro" — today's presentation from the Home of the Week Plan Service—very popular with many prospective home builders.

Three well-ventilated bedrooms will also help to make this house plan a favorite choice. In these bedrooms — as is the case throughout the house — there is ample closet storage space. This storage space is conveniently placed, too.

With overall measurements of 47 by 69 feet, this house has a cubage of 30,800 feet. Cubage of the garage is 7300 feet. You should have a lot at least 70 feet frontage.

Large Window Areas

Plenty of large window areas seem to bring the outdoors right inside this house and greatly increase the interior appearance of spaciousness. The shape of the house lends itself perfectly to the inclusion of a large outside living room in the back yard. A terrace is suggested in the accompanying plan; this can be enlarged to include a fireplace and can be made just as attractive as you want to make it.

Because of its length, the kitchen is actually larger than it may look at first glance. Designed to contain a complete array of modern equipment, the kitchen also includes a comfortably large breakfast area. A back door provides easy access to the yard.

Cacti, Succulents Need Indoor Care

Tender cacti and succulents kept in the house over winter frequently are far from inactive. Many put on more growth at that time than during the summer when heeled in outdoors, where they get along well without any attention.

While they require relatively little moisture as compared with most other kinds of plants, letting the soil become bone dry puts a severe strain on them. Most of them are accustomed to heavy night dews. This effect is easily simulated by giving just a little sprinkle of water every morning. This should suffice to keep the soil from drying out excessively.

A weak dose of liquid fertilizer given once a month after the soil has been watered a little more freely the day before will result in visible response and strange as it may seem, very dilute liquid manure produces the greatest gain.

Cost Saving Tip

Elaborate outdoor cornices require a great deal of carpenter work and do not contribute greatly to the livability of a home. For lowest cost, keep down elaborate exterior detail.

Transplanting Gives Roots Chance to Grow

House plants need to be transplanted occasionally to make room for growing roots.

Use a flower pot a size larger than the one the plant has been in. If it's an old pot, scrub it thoroughly inside and out to prevent the spread of disease.

A new earthenware pot should be soaked overnight before planting.

Soften the Bristles

When the bristles in a paint brush has hardened because you overlooked cleaning it at the proper time, don't try to paint with it until you have removed the hardened paint accumulation. Paint doesn't dissolve in paint. To clean a hardened brush, place it in a container and pour on a liquid brush cleaner. Let it soak until the bristle has softened.

Shellac Patches

Patches on a plaster wall should be coated with shellac to prevent the new plaster absorbing paint too readily. After the shellac is dry, apply several thin coats of flat wall paint to the spot so that when the overall coat of paint is applied to the surface you won't get shiny spots due to the shellac.

Tools of Good Quality

Quality tools keep their edges longer. They are more easily sharpened. They stand harder usage. The difference in price between a good tool and an inferior piece of junk amounts to very little.

Remove Spatters

When painting with quick-drying coatings, be careful to wipe up any spatters promptly. It's always wise, of course, to work with a drop cloth or old newspapers covering the floor.

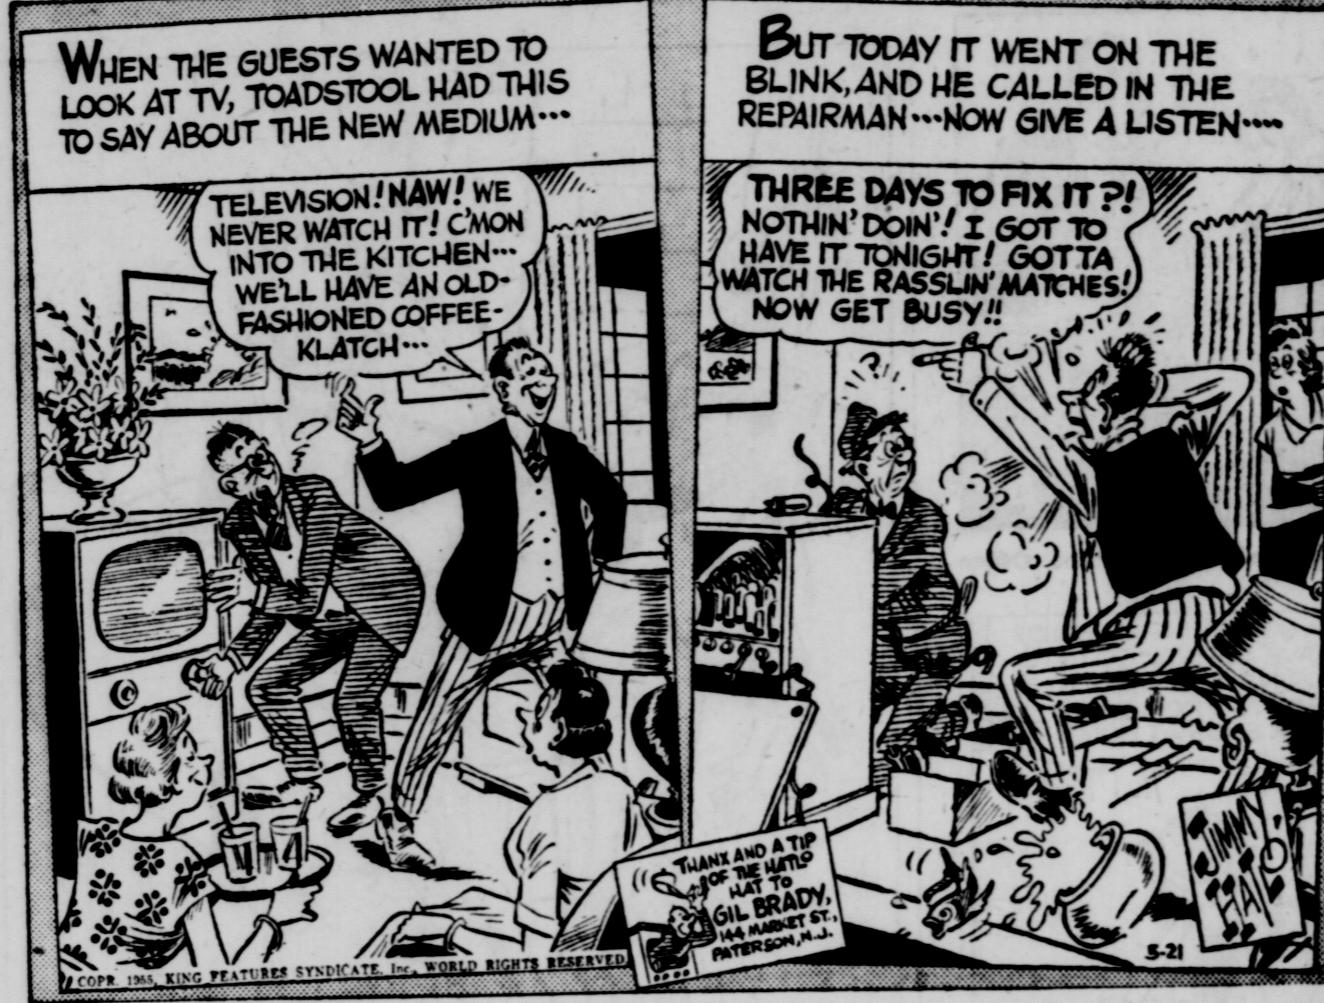

Unprepared for Fire

Less than 5 per cent of the nation's homes are equipped with a portable fire extinguisher.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office)

By JIMMY HATLO

The Library of Congress in Washington has more than 10 million books.

Clean Ashtrays With Alcohol and Brush

Ash trays can be thoroughly cleaned with denatured alcohol, a stiff brush, and lots of scrubbing. This "formula" will clean either brass or copper ash trays that are discolored by tobacco and nicotine. A brisk workout will leave the metal looking like new.

Best Spot for Roses

Roses do best in sites where there are about five hours per day of sun. They should be provided with partial shades during the heat of the afternoon.

Softening Old Putty

Putty that has dried out and become unworkable, can be softened by adding a little linseed oil and kneading the putty with the hands.

Painting Stairs

When you're painting steps and you need to keep the stairway open for traffic, paint every other step first. When dry, paint the remaining steps.

Planning a Nursery

When planning a nursery, try to select a room that has cross ventilation in summer and sun-shine in winter.

Climbing Roses

To prevent winter killing of your climbing roses, take them off the trellis and lay them on the ground covering them with leaves or straw.

Use Fiber Washers

Fiber washers withstand hot water better than leather ones do, and for that reason they should be used in hot water faucets.

House Requires Water

The average small house requires from 18 to 25 gallons of water a day to keep the air properly moist during the winter heating season.

For Best Light Effects

Light effects in a north-south street are superior to those in an east-west street, in both summer and winter.

Round Dining Tables Making a ComebackTransplanting Gives Roots Chance to Grow

House plants need to be transplanted occasionally to make room for growing roots. Use a flower pot a size larger than the one the plant has been in. If it's an old pot, scrub it thoroughly inside and out to prevent the spread of disease. A new earthenware pot should be soaked overnight before planting.

Clean Ashtrays With Alcohol and Brush

Ash trays can be thoroughly cleaned with denatured alcohol, a stiff brush, and lots of scrubbing. This "formula" will clean either brass or copper ash trays that are discolored by tobacco and nicotine. A brush workout will leave the metal looking like new.

Best Spot for Roses

Roses do best in sites where there are about five hours per day of sun. They should be provided with partial shades during the heat of the afternoon.

Softening Old Putty

Putty that has dried out and become unworkable, can be softened by adding a little linseed oil and kneading the putty with the hands.

Painting Stairs

When you're painting steps and you need to keep the stairway open for traffic, paint every other step first. When dry, paint the remaining steps.

Planning a Nursery

When planning a nursery, try to select a room that has cross ventilation in summer and sunshine in winter.

Climbing Roses

To prevent winter killing of your climbing roses, take them off the trellis and lay them on the ground covering them with leaves or straw.

Use Fiber Washers

Fiber washers withstand hot water better than leather ones do, and for that reason they should be used in hot water faucets.

House Requires Water

The average small house requires from 18 to 25 gallons of water a day to keep the air properly moist during the winter heating season.

For Best Light Effects

Light effects in a north-south street are superior to those in an east-west street, in both summer and winter.

BARBS

This is the time of year when prospective home buyers travel to suburban territory on a salesman's line.

An insect is any married man who has the nerve to disappear from home during spring house-cleaning.

Maybe they should teach teenagers in school what clothes hangers are for.

Dollars for Research

Americans spend about three billion dollars a year for research, but only about 5 per cent of that is basic research as compared to applied research, says Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chemist.

Customer—Where is the other barber you formerly had here? The one who used to tell the funny stories?

Barber—He got too ambitious. He started to illustrate his funny stories with cuts.

Failure is the line of least persistence.

Jason—Electric ice boxes have certainly simplified things. Jones—They sure have. Once upon a time Jacobs got up early on Sunday morning to let the iceman in, and being unable to find his bathrobe, he slipped on his wife's kimono. When he opened the door he was greeted by a nice big kiss by the iceman. And the only way Jacobs could figure it out was that the iceman's wife had a kimono just like the one he had on.

Advice to speakers: In the old farmer's words, "When you're through pumpin', let go the handle."

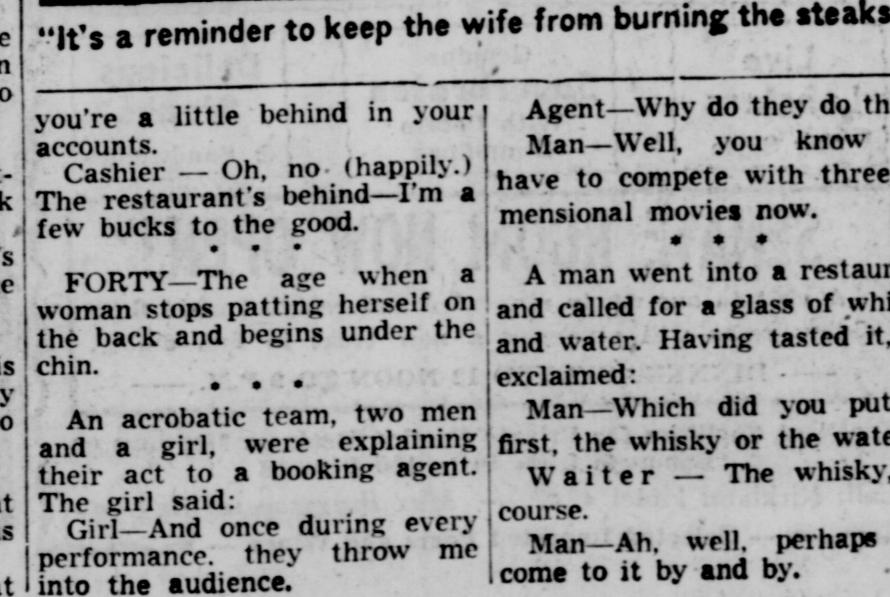

Lynne—I enjoyed a quiet little evening alone with a book last night.

Suzanne—I'm afraid that's going to happen to me some night too.

The tragedy of the flea is that he knows for a certainty that all his children will go to the dogs.

The owner of the restaurant walked menacingly toward his cashier.

Herdegen Memorial Golf Tournament Slated June 19-25-26

Dates for the fifth annual Father Herdegen Memorial golf tournament, symbolic of the Ulster county amateur championship, have been announced.

The 54-hole tournament starts Sunday, June 19, at the Woodstock Country Club.

Second round is slated for the Shawangunk Club of Ellenville on Saturday, June 25, with the 18-hole finals at Twaalfskill Club on Sunday, June 26.

The tournament reverts to its original format of 54 holes since only three courses will be available. It was tentatively scheduled to start at Wiltwyck's new layout but the course will not be used for the Herdegen Memorial until the 1956 event.

All golfers in Ulster county are eligible to compete. The first 36 holes will be for qualifying with the field reduced for the finals at Twaalfskill.

The first place winner will receive a handsome trophy. There will also be nine merchandise prizes.

The tournament has gained tremendous stature since its inception by sports editor Charles J. Tiano of the Daily Freeman in 1951 and is now considered the most coveted title open to Ulster county amateur golfers. It is a memorial to the late Father Henry E. Herdegen of St. Peter's Church of Kingston.

George Hughes of Twaalfskill Club is a two-time winner (1951 and 1954). The other titles were won by Clarence Raichle, Twaalfskill, in 1952 and William J. Van Aken, Wiltwyck, 1953.

Hughes holds the 72-hole record of 286 strokes set in last year's championship. He won the first 54-hole tournament with a sizzling 208 total that included a record-tying 63 at the Woodstock Country Club.

Tournament secretary, Ralph E. Gardner has announced that invitations will be sent to more than 75 of the area's best known linksmen.

The former champions—Hughes, Raichle and Van Aken—are automatically qualified through the finals.

Marlboro, Saugerties and Onteora Capture UCAL Contests

Mackey Stops Highland; Jim Farrell Pitches 10-7 Over Kerhonkson

Marlboro routed Highland High, 16 to 5, behind George Mackey's effective 8-hit pitching in the Ulster County Athletic League yesterday.

Jim Farrell kept Saugerties High in a tie for first place by turning back Kerhonkson High, 10 to 7, on six hits. He slammed a solo homer in his own behalf in the second inning.

Onteora Central staged its best batting display of the season to jolt New Paltz High, 14 to 9, behind Germond and Rotella.

MACKEY helped himself considerably with double and two singles three trips. Carston Conn blasted a double and two singles and Richie Mandia was "3 for 3" including a double. George Brooks powered a single and triple.

Marlboro routed Pampinella with four runs in the third and continued their 17-hit assault on Gersch and Kurtz. An 8-run rally in the fifth blew the game apart.

ONTEORA drove DePuy to the showers with a 9-run blast in the second inning when 13 men batted and Dick Hornbeck and Jim Rose belted bases loaded singles. Bob Shultis hit safely twice during the big rally. Rotella and Germond also inserted singles.

Bob Germond and Marty Rotella combined for a five-hit job. Bob Shultis and Rotella each smacked three hits.

Farrell had rough going against Kerhonkson although yielding only six hits but three were doubles by Mustion, Steers and Probst. But the Saugerties ace was tough in the clutch with 10 strikeouts. Johnny Mustion was the loser on five hits.

Stock Regatta Slated Sunday At Lazy Bones

The second annual Lazy Bones Boat Basin stock outboard regatta, scheduled Sunday at 1 p.m., will bring to Kingston some of the country's topflight drivers and a bevy of local favorites.

Cliff and Bruce Miller head the local contingent.

Nationally rated stars scheduled include Jesse Jewel, Schenectady, 1953 National Class A Stock Hydro champion; Harry Chase, Schenectady, 1953 New England States Class B Hydro; Johnny Covalis, Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., one of the top 10 drivers in the U. S. and a host of other stars.

LIU Resumes Basketball on Amateur Basis

Brooklyn, May 21 (UPI)—Long Island University, which dropped basketball as an aftermath of the 1951 gambling scandals, will field a team in 1956. The players "will not take snap courses because none are offered in the curriculum."

Admiral Richard L. Conolly (ret.), university president, said today the return "will be on a strictly amateur basis."

The university will provide athletic scholarships but they will cover only tuition fees.

"Even if we don't stand first in competition, we will stand on highest ranks as far as ethics is concerned," said Adm. Conolly. "The team will operate under the strictest controls and in the best tradition of amateur sports."

RONNIE LOCKE added two more

Onteora Central School track records to his collection with new marks in the discus and shot put as Coach Bernie Stahl's Indians nipped Hunter-Tannersville, 50½ to 47, in a quadrangular meet at Tannersville.

Greenville was third with 23 points and Kingston Jayvees placed fourth with 10½ points.

LOCKE FIRED THE discus 108 feet, 8 inches and the 12-pound shot 39 feet for new Onteora records. Meanwhile, the crack 880 relay team scored in decisive fashion. It has been beaten only once, a second place in the Hudson Valley Relays. The team is made up of Bob Shultis, Reynolds, Ben Robinson and Ronne Locke.

Howard Wender continued in his specialty—the 880—reeling off the half mile in 2 minutes, 18 seconds.

The summaries:

180 YARD HURDLES—Won by France, HT; 2. Vanuechi, HT; 3. Manser, G; 4. Frodsham, K; Time: 24.2 seconds.

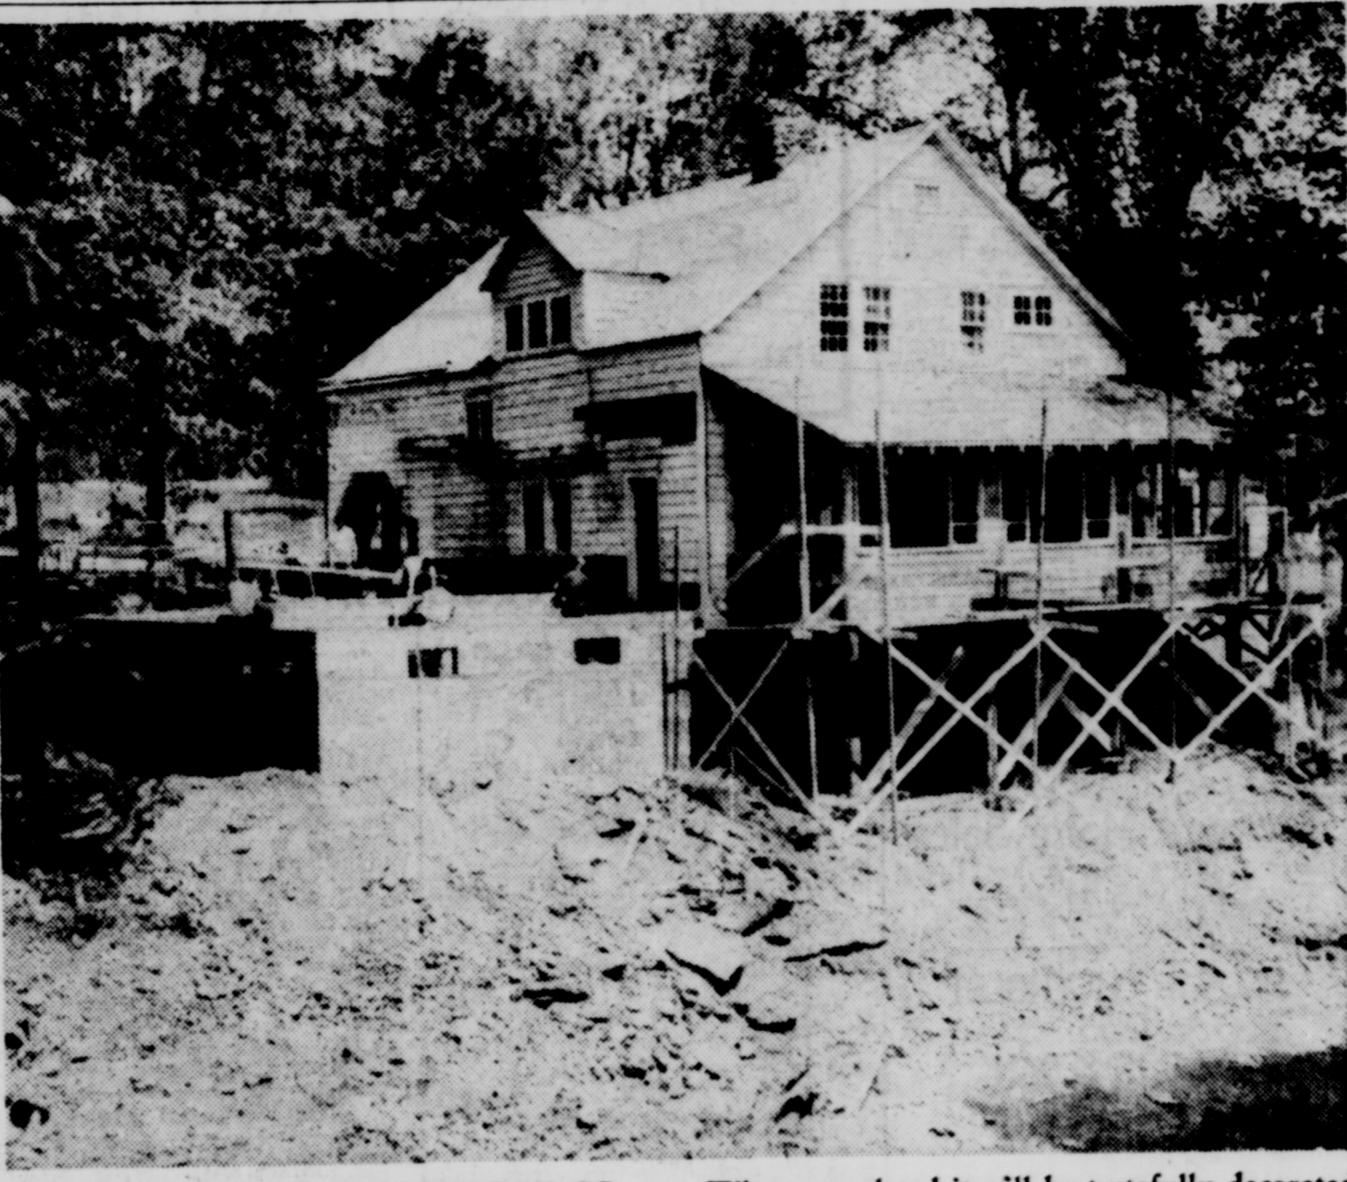

100 YARD DASH—Won by Bartley (HT); 2. Shultis (0); 3. Schreiber (K); 4. Eisasser (G); Time: 11.2 seconds.

REBUILDING AT WOODSTOCK CC—Members of the Woodstock Country Club will soon have a beautiful, modern cocktail lounge for the traditional 19th hole. The former bar has been removed and replaced by the new one shown in the process of construction. (Freeman Photo)

SCOREROAD

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

It's been more than a decade since any manager of the Chicago Cubs could put in a call to the bullpen with confidence. But Hal Jeffcoat, headed for the minors as a washed up outfielder a year ago, almost has skipper Stan Hack relaxing in a rocking chair these days.

* Not since Charley Root left in 1941 have the Cubs had a fireman who plays the part as well as Jeffcoat.

The 30-year-old Jeffcoat got his chance when Hack took over last year. Until then, Hal had been just a good-field, no-hit fly chaser with the Cubs for six years.

IT'S BARELY A year now since Jeffcoat won his first major league decision (in eight relief appearances) with Brooklyn, May 6, 1954, but Hack has waved him in 11 times so far this season and in 23 1/3 innings Hal has hung up a 5-0 record.

He claimed No. 5 last night at Milwaukee as the surprising Cubs lead by beating Pittsburgh 6-3 on Bill Taylor's pinch homer while Philadelphia and Robin Roberts tagged the Brooks with a fourth straight defeat 5-3. Cincinnati snapped a five-game St. Louis winning streak 10-7, with Smokey Burgess' grand slammer wrecking the Cardinals.

IN THE AMERICAN, Detroit peppered Cleveland 11-4 as the New York Yankees cut the Indians' lead to a half game by beating Baltimore 7-5. Kansas City's Art Dittmar stymied the White Sox 1-0 with a two-hitter, while Speake's homer, the rookie's fifth, belted Warren Spahn for his fifth defeat.

Brooklyn outhit the Phillies, who had lost 15 of 16, but couldn't do much else against Roberts, who owns five of Philadelphia's 10 victories. Roy Campanella's bases-empty homer in the second was the only big blow off the righthander while the Phils made the most of Dodger errors and wildness to beat Billy Loes.

The Giants tied the Pirates at 3-3 in the seventh and then Taylor delivered the crusher with two out after Max Surkont had walked two in the ninth. It was the fourth pinch homer of the season for the Giants. Hoyt Wilhelm was the winner in relief as the Bucs lost their eighth straight.

Herdegen Memorial Golf Tournament Slated June 19-25-26

Dates for the fifth annual Father Herdegen Memorial golf tournament, symbolic of the Ulster county amateur championship, have been announced.

The 54-hole tournament starts Sunday, June 19, at the Woodstock Country Club.

Second round is slated for the Shawangunk Club of Ellenville on Saturday, June 25, with the 18-hole finals at Twaalfskill Club on Sunday, June 26.

The tournament reverts to its original format of 54 holes since only three courses will be available. It was tentatively scheduled to start at Wiltwyck's new layout but the course will not be used for the Herdegen Memorial until the 1956 event.

All golfers in Ulster county are eligible to compete. The first 36 holes will be for qualifying with the field reduced for the finals at Twaalfskill.

The first place winner will receive a handsome trophy. There will also be nine merchandise prizes.

The tournament has gained tremendous stature since its inception by sports editor Charles J. Tiano of the Daily Freeman in 1951 and is now considered the most coveted title open to Ulster county amateur golfers. It is a memorial to the late Father Henry E. Herdegen of St. Peter's Church of Kingston.

George Hughes of Twaalfskill Club is a two-time winner (1951 and 1954). The other titles were won by Clarence Raichle, Twaalfskill, in 1952 and William J. Van Aken, Wiltwyck, 1953.

Hughes holds the 72-hole record of 286 strokes set in last year's championship. He won the first 54-hole tournament with a sizzling 208 total that included a record-tying 63 at the Woodstock Country Club.

Tournament secretary, Ralph E. Gardner has announced that invitations will be sent to more than 75 of the area's best known linksmen.

The former champions—Hughes, Raichle and Van Etten—are automatically qualified through the finals.

Marlboro, Saugerties and Onteora Capture UCAL Contests

Mackey Stops Highland; Jim Farrell Pitches 10-7 Over Kerhonkson

Marlboro routed Highland High, 16 to 5, behind George Mackey's effective 8-hit pitching in the Ulster County Athletic League yesterday.

Jim Farrell kept Saugerties High in a tie for first place by turning back Kerhonkson High, 10 to 7, on six hits. He slammed a solo homer in his own behalf in the second inning.

Onteora Central staged its best batting display of the season to jolt New Paltz High, 14 to 9, behind Germond and Rotella.

MACKEY helped himself considerably with a double and two singles three trips. Carston Conn blasted a double and two singles and Richie Mandia was "3 for 3" including a double. George Brooks powered a single and a triple.

Marlboro routed Pampinella with four runs in the third and continued their 17-hit assault on Gersch and Kurtz. An 8-run rally in the fifth blew the game apart.

ONTEORA drove DePuy to the showers with a 9-run blast in the second inning when 13 men batted and Dick Hornbeck and Jim Rose belted bases loaded singles. Bob Shultis hit safely twice during the big rally. Rotella and Germond also inserted singles.

Bob Germond and Marty Rotella combined for a five-hit job. Bob Shultis and Rotella each slammed three hits.

Farrell had rough going against Kerhonkson although yielding only six hits but three were doubles by Mustion, Steers and Probst. But the Saugerties ace was tough in the clutch with 10 strikeouts. Johnny Mustion was the loser on five hits.

Final Tryouts Monday In Fraternal League

Final tryouts for the Fraternal Youth baseball league will be held Monday evening at Dietz Stadium.

All 13-year-old boys who have signed up are asked to bring birth certificates, according to vice-president, Len Ellsworth.

Final tryouts for the 14-15 age group attracted a total of 69 boys, but only a few will be selected because of lack of sponsorship. The FYL is still interested in sponsors for any fraternal organization in the city or county. All those interested please contact Len Ellsworth.

After Monday's practice session the managers of the seven teams will hold their annual meeting for the selection of youngsters. A complete list of the successful candidates will be published in the Daily Freeman.

To date 127 boys have signed up with 58 of the group in the 13-year-old bracket. Thirty-five will be chosen from this group.

Starting at 12 Noon Sponsored by Rosendale Sportsman's Assn.

10 Accused of Forgery In Delivery Trucking

New York, May 21 (P)—Six employees of a freight forwarding firm and four truckmen, accused of obtaining more than $150,000 through fraudulent delivery charges, were arrested today on charges of forgery.

Police said that accountants still checking the alleged operations of the firm employees and the truckmen during the past 10 months may disclose that the amount realized through the forgeries was $200,000.

The complainant in the case was listed as Robert Decker, assistant to the president of the ABC Freight Forwarding Corporation, 201 Eleventh avenue. Detectives had been working on the case for six weeks' together with former Deputy Chief Inspector Abraham Goldman of the police department, who is employed by the freight forwarding firm.

Report Indicates Facilities Needed For Mental Health

A study of 233 questionnaires from various professional people of Ulster county, including doctors, teachers, clergy, health and welfare workers indicates mental health facilities are inadequate in the county. The survey was contained in a preliminary report submitted to the Mental Health Committee of the Ulster County TB and Health Association at a meeting Thursday night by the Rev. Edward I. Farrell, chairman of the questionnaire committee.

The report said workers feel the great need of a psychiatric team, which would consist of a psychiatrist, a psychologist and psychiatric social worker.

THE STUDY of mental health was made by sampling nearly every township of the county. Judge Raymond J. Mino, chairman of the Mental Health Services committee, commended the many public spirited leaders who worked in Kingston and in the townships of Ulster county on the survey.

A committee was appointed by Dr. Edward F. Shea, chairman, to work with a committee from the Ulster County Medical Society to request the establishment of a Mental Health Board by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors who would study the needs and execute such a program. Members appointed were, the Rev. Edward I. Farrell; Mrs. Addison Crowell, Wallkill; A. Roland Riegel, Kerhonkson; Mrs. George Mollenhauer, Tillson; Rabbi Herbert Bloom and Judge Mino.

Immunization Clinic

A clinic for immunizations against whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox will be conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, 15 Main street, Kingston, on Saturday, May 28, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Immunizations for whooping cough should be started at three months of age; diphtheria and tetanus at six months and smallpox vaccination some time during the first year of life.

School News

Marbletown Central — May 11 saw the seventh and eighth grades of MCS taking their annual class trips. While the eighth grade headed for New York city, the first stop for the seventh grade was Howe Caverns. Here, after descending the 160 feet into the caverns, everyone enjoyed the wonders of the beautifully lighted stone formations and the half mile boat ride on the underground waterway. A thrilling experience of the ride was the singing of the school song, words of which had been written by the school children themselves and the music by their instructor, Mr. Sweeney. Many compliments on the beauty of the song were received as the group disembarked. Lunch at the picnic area was followed by a game of softball, then the trip continued to Schoharie where the party stopped at the Old Stone Fort and felt very much at home. Here were pictures of William Roscoe, historian of Schoharie county, copies of his books, testimonies rendered him by his fellow citizens and numerous antiques presented by the family. All this was of especial interest as William Roscoe is the great grandfather of Merton Blanchard, principal of MCS. The seventh graders are grateful to the parents: the Messrs. Atkinson, Donnelly, Lambertson, Rask, Siemer for accompanying them on the trip and also to the parents and friends who helped in the seed and food sales making the trip financially possible.

Shokan

Shokan, May 20—Callers in the hub of the reservoir country Saturday included Elizabeth Donohoe of San Diego, Calif., Elizabeth Juchter, Jamaica, L. I., and Mrs. Jerry Lentz of Ulster Park. Mrs. Donahoe and Mrs. Juchter were guests of Mrs. Lentz who is a sister of Mrs. Clifford Seaman of West Hurley. Mrs. Donahoe in earlier years was a frequent visitor at the home of her sister, Mrs. Will Lasher, who resided on Brown Station Hill.

Ralph Elefant, who attends college in Albany, while home for the weekend bought himself a car and drove it back to the capital.

The Rev. John Grob having gone to West Frankfort, Ill., to spend a few days, there will be no service in the Ashokan Methodist Church Sunday. Services will be held in the West Hurley and Glenford units of the Ashokan charge with Alton Boyce and Paul Newkirk as the speakers respectively. The MYF will meet Sunday at the usual time and place.

Mose Carney of Atwood was here Wednesday. His wife is a member of the Keator family who live on Winchell Hill, site of the main Ashokan Dam, in days before the waterworks.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Elmendorf have rented one of the apartments in the L. F. Ruckert main house in the village center. Clarence, a veteran of army service, has employment at a Kingston machine shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion G. Irwin and son, John, attended the wedding of Lt. Louis H. Irwin and Virginia Johnson, Sunday, May 15, at St. James Lutheran Church, Garden City, and a reception at the Garden City Hotel. Lieut. Irwin and his bride planned to motor to El Paso, Tex., where they will make their home.

Chichester summer residents up from the city for the weekend included Polly Prusak, Helen Wolfgang, Selma Parmer and Edna Sheinberg.

Mrs. H. Van Lengen of Kerhonkson was in town Wednesday. She and her husband will soon move to High Woods where they have bought a stone house near the Glasco Turnpike.

Russia Will Send Farm Experts to U. S.

Moscow, May 21 (P)—Russia has formally accepted a U. S. invitation to send over a group of farm experts to study American corn and hog raising methods.

In a note delivered last night to the U. S. Embassy, the Soviet government said it would send 10 or 12 experts to tour the U. S. farm belt and added that it was ready to issue visas to a group of American agriculturalists to pay a return visit.

The note suggested the Americans come here about mid-July—the same date set in the U. S. invitation.

Exams Scheduled

June 13 for 300 Nursing Grants

A special examination to determine the winners of the first 300 State scholarships for nursing education to be awarded by New York state, will be given in all high schools in the state Monday, June 13, Miss Mary Keating, Kingston president of District No. 11, New York State Nurses Association, said today. "Persons interested in taking the examination should apply, as soon as possible, to a high school principal," she said.

Miss Keating noted that the nursing scholarships were established when Governor Harriman signed into law a bill sponsored by the New York State Nurses Association and passed by the Legislature, allocating $105,000 for the scholarships. This was the fourth consecutive year the registered professional nurses' organization sponsored this scholarship legislation.

"EACH SCHOLARSHIP" recipient will be entitled to $350 per year for each year of attendance at a basic school of professional nursing in New York state," the nursing leader said. "Through this program many qualified students who could not have attended nursing school for financial reasons, will now have an opportunity to enter nursing."

The New York State Nurses Association also sponsored legislation to have state scholarships for the training of nurse teachers and nurse administrators established," Miss Keating said. "This bill was not acted upon by the Legislature," she added.

10 Accused of Forgery In Delivery Trucking

New York, May 21 (P)—Six employees of a freight forwarding firm and four truckmen, accused of obtaining more than $150,000 through fraudulent delivery charges, were arrested today on charges of forgery.

Police said that accountants still checking the alleged operations of the firm employees and the truckmen during the past 10 months may disclose that the amount realized through the forgeries was $200,000.

The complainant in the case was listed as Robert Decker, assistant to the president of the ABC Freight Forwarding Corporation, 201 Eleventh avenue. Detectives had been working on the case for six weeks' together with former Deputy Chief Inspector Abraham Goldman of the police department, who is employed by the freight forwarding firm.

Recipients of these coveted awards were Lois Brown, Myron Epstein, Sandra Galate, James Forster, Carolyn Lasher, Mary Lou Snyder and Barbara Schwartzberg.

MISS ILSE SELMER, teacher of foreign languages, left Thursday afternoon and she attended a meeting Friday and Saturday of the Regents Question Committee. Miss Selmer assists in making up the German examinations for the state.

FRENCH HONOR SOCIETY elected officers for this coming year on Monday. Arthur Beck was elected president with Carol Ryland, secretary-treasurer.

FOLLOWING an interim of several years, Newman Club, Catholic organization of Kingson High School and the Academy of St. Ursula, was revived last year and through a number of worth while activities has re-established itself as one of the important clubs of KHS.

In addition to reviving the annual Christmas dance, the club also sponsored a "Bunny Hop" during Easter vacation.

Newman clubbers have also made several interesting trips including a visit to Fordham University in the Bronx and a trip to the Convent and Seminary at Maryknoll. They also enjoyed a joint meeting with the Walden Newman Club at Walden. The club also plans a communion breakfast this month.

Club meets every second and fourth Thursday of the month at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Membership now numbers approximately 100, but any Catholic high school student is eligible to join.

Officers for the year include: Bob Raible, president; Terry O'Reilly, vice president; Bob Burns, treasurer.

FIFTEEN DAME RUMOR editors were inducted Thursday into Quill and Scroll, a national journalist honor society with chapters in more than 1000 high schools throughout the United States.

Barbara Schwartzberg and Lois Brown, co-editors-in-chief of this year's Dame Rumor, after receiving their pins made presentations to Managing Editor Mike Epstein, Madeline Barnovitz, Thelma Friedman and Helen Stevenson, associate editors; Anne Dugan, girls' sports editor; Barbara Finley, subscription manager; Rose Rammer, business manager and Donald Peck, head photographer; Barbara Zimmerman, advertising manager.

Five members of next year's staff also were named to Quill and Scroll: Victoria Piasecki, editor-in-chief; Seymour Semilof and Art Moshos, sports editors; Emily Goodear, exchange editor and Barbara Leventhal, advertising manager.

Five other Dame Rumor editors and reporters, while ineligible at the present time for Quill and Scroll membership, were awarded special journalism pins for their faithful services to the school paper. These awards were made by Mike Epstein, managing editor.

Those receiving pins were Bob Cole and Marshall Rodden, photographers; Benny Beck, sports editor; Kathie Haggerty, Joyce Dowdell, Florence Kessler, Mark Orniston, Eleanor Popo, Elaine Schwartz and John Snyder, reporters and advertisers; Judy Lacy, Valerie Millard, Lorraine Etienne, David Eighmey and Howard Marcon.

Following the induction ceremony Miss Agnes Scott Smith, adviser of Dame Rumor since its founding, was called to the stage and presented with a circular bunch of balloons and a needle for bursting them. Each balloon contained a bill contributed by the staff members to their advisor.

Club meets every second and fourth Thursday of the month at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Membership now numbers approximately 100, but any Catholic high school student is eligible to join.
